| 1 | 1. niraya | 1. hell: the lowest plane of existence in the Buddhist cosmos, the place of the most intense suffering. It is said that the beings in hell have to suffer the results of their evil deeds from the beginning of their lives until the end, without a moment's respite.-> The commentators state that there are eight great hells, of increasing intensity of torment. They are named Saṅjīva, Kāḷasutta, Sanghāta, Roruva, Mahā Roruva, Tāpana, Mahā Tāpana, and Avīci. Of these, Avīci is the lowest and most terrible.-> Each great hell is surrounded on each of its four sides by five minor hells, bringing the total to 168 hells. They live in the same world as human beings—in forests, bogs, cemeteries, etc.—though they remain invisible to humans except when they display themselves or are perceived by those with the divine eye. | kāmāvacara: apāya, woeful | indefinite | duggati ahetuka | 1 ahetuka akusala vipāka upekkhā santīraṇa |

1 antarakappa = 1 hāyanakappa (aeon of decrease) + 1 vaḍḍhanakappa (aeon of increase)

-> hāyanakappa, aeon of decrease: at the beginning of the Vivaṭṭaṭṭhāyi Asaṅkhyeyyakappa (i.e. the beginning of the world – kiếp TRỤ) people live for incalculable (asaṅkhyeyya) years. As time goes on, they are overcome by such mental defilement as lobha (greed), dosa (anger), etc. and consequently their life span gradually decreases until it becomes only ten years.

-> vaḍḍhanakappa, aeon of increase: on the contrary, owing to the occurrence and uplift of such wholesome principles as sublime states of mind, namely, mettā (loving-kindness), etc. the life span of generations of their descendents doubles up gradually until it becomes incalculable years.

-> the life span of human beings goes up and down between ten years and incalculable years as they develop meritoriousness or are overcome by their demeritoriousness. A pair of life span, an increasing one and a decreasing one is called an antarakappa.

At the completion of 20 antarakappas (each antarakappa consisting of a pair of increasing and decreasing aeons), a Vivaṭṭaṭṭhāyi Asaṅkheyyakappa (kiếp TRỤ) comes to an end.

-> since there are no living beings (in human and celestial realms) during the Saṃvaṭṭa Asaṅkheyyakappa (kiếp HOẠI), Saṃvaṭṭaṭṭhāyi Asaṅkheyyakappa (kiếp KHÔNG) and Vivaṭṭa Asaṅkheyyakappa (kiếp THÀNH) , these kappas are not reckoned in terms of antarakappa, which consists of a set of increasing and decreasing aeons.

-> it should be noted that each of these Asaṅkheyyakappas, lasting as long as 20 antarakappas, are of the same duration as a Vivaṭṭaṭṭhāyi Asaṅkheyyakappa.

The ten modes of sense-sphere rebirth linking are obtained by way of the ten types of consciousness that perform the function of rebirth-linking in the sense sphere. (8 mahāvipāka, 2 upekkhā santīraṇa) (CMA p195)

The first jhāna resultant occurs in the first jhāna plane as the rebirth-linking, life-continuum, and death (consciousness);
-> the second jhāna resultant and the third jhāna resultant (occur thus) in the second jhāna plane;
-> the fourth jhāna resultant in the third jhāna plane; the fifth jhāna resultant in the fourth jhāna plane.
-> for non-percipient beings material form itself occurs as rebirth-linking. Similarly thereafter, during the course of existence and at the moment of death, only material form exists and perishes.
-> These are the six modes of rebirth-linking in the fine-material sphere. (CMA p197)

The first immaterial resultant occurs as the rebirth-linking, life continuum, and death (consciousness) in the first immaterial plane, and the others occur in the same functions in their respective planes.
-> these are the four modes of rebirth-linking in the immaterial sphere. (CMA p199)

The citta rooted in delusion and accompanied by restlessness is the weakest of all the unwholesome cittas, and for this reason it cannot take on the role of generating rebirth. Any of the other eleven unwholesome cittas can generate the unwholesome-resultant investigating consciousness which functions as rebirth-linking, bhavanga, and death consciousness for the beings reborn in the four woeful realms. (CMA p.210)
-> All twelve unwholesome cittas can generate the seven unwholesome-resultant cittas anywhere in the sensuous world during the course of existence—the five kinds of sense consciousness, and the receiving and investigating consciousnesses.
-> 7 = ahetuka akusala vipāka (cakkhu, sota, ghāna, jivhā, kāya-viññāṇa + upekkhā sampaṭicchana + upekkhā santīraṇa)
In the fine-material world they produce only four unwholesome-resultants, the threefold sense consciousness of nose, tongue, and body being excluded.
-> 4 = ahetuka akusala vipāka (cakkhu, sota-viññāṇa + upekkhā sampaṭicchana + upekkhā santīraṇa) (CMA p211)

Each of the five fine-material-sphere jhānas produces, as its kammic result, the resultant fine-material-sphere citta that is its own exact counterpart. This citta is the only resultant produced by the wholesome jhāna citta itself.

-> The wholesome cittas generated in the preparatory stages of meditation culminating in jhāna are sense-sphere wholesome cittas, and their results accordingly are sense-sphere resultants, not fine-material resultants.

-> The fine-material-sphere resultant citta performs only the three functions of rebirth-linking, bhavanga, and death. This means that it occurs only as a process-freed consciousness. It does not occur within the cognitive process, nor does the wholesome jhāna citta produce any resultants occurring in the cognitive process.

-> All resultant cittas occurring in the cognitive process, with the exception of the supramundane fruits, are sense-sphere resultants. (CMA p217)

Each wholesome jhāna citta generates rebirth in the fine-material realm that corresponds with its own level.

-> However, the fine-material realms are structured in accordance with the four jhānas of the Suttanta system into four broad tiers rather than five, and thus the second and third jhāna cittas of the Abhidhamma fivefold analysis of jhāna both produce rebirth into the fine-material realms corresponding to the second jhāna of the Suttanta system. (CMA p217-218)

The lower three tiers of the fine-material world each consist of three distinct realms. These realms are the spheres of rebirth for those who develop the corresponding jhāna to three degrees of mastery: limited, medium, and superior.

-> The jhāna citta itself is not distinguished into different types according to the three degrees of development.

-> The citta is defined as a jhāna citta of a particular type in terms of its constellation of cetasikas, and for any given jhāna these remain the same no matter whether the jhāna is developed to an inferior, middling, or superior degree of mastery. (CMA p218)

-> the degree of development affects the potency of the citta to generate rebirth, and thus in each tier three different realms are found as the objective counterparts of their different potencies.

-> In the case of a meditator who has developed several jhānas, the highest one he still possesses at the end of his life is the one that will take on the role of generating rebirth.

Developing the fifth jhāna: The principle according to which this plane is divided differs from that which divides the previous three. In this plane, all worldlings, stream-enterers, and once-returners who develop the fifth jhāna in the normal way—whether to a limited, medium or superior degree—are reborn in the Realm of Great Reward.

-> Some worldlings, however, adopt the attitude that consciousness and perception are the root of all misery, and they develop the fifth jhāna conjoined with a strong sense of dispassion towards perception. Because their fifth jhāna citta is permeated by the wish for perception to cease, they are reborn in the realm of non-percipient beings. There they exist as mere animate material bodies—the vital nonad (see VI, §28)—until they pass away and take rebirth elsewhere. (CMA p218)

Non-returners are reborn in the Pure Abodes: It is said that their rebirth into these five realms is determined by their predominant spiritual faculty.

-> Non-returners in whom faith is the dominant faculty are reborn into the Aviha realm (vô phiền);
-> those in whom energy is dominant, into the Atappa realm (vô nhiệt);
-> those in whom mindfulness is dominant, into the Sudassa realm (thiện hiện);
-> those in whom concentration is dominant, into the Sudassī realm (thiện kiến);
-> those in whom wisdom is dominant, into the Akaniṭṭha realm (sắc cứu cánh). (CMA p218)

Although none but non-returners are reborn into the Pure Abodes, there is no fixed law holding that all non-returners are reborn there. It may be that the Pure Abodes are open only to non-returners who possess the fifth jhāna, while non-returners with a lower jhāna attainment will be reborn elsewhere in the fine-material plane. (CMA p218-219)

-> However, all non-returners must be reborn in the fine-material plane because they have eradicated sensual desire (kāmarāga), the fetter which leads to rebirth in the sensuous plane.

One who has developed the base of infinite space, and at the time of death has not lost it due to negligence and other hindrances, will be reborn into the realm of infinite space. Similarly with respect to the other immaterial attainments: the highest attainment preserved at the time of death will generate rebirth into the corresponding realm.

-> As in the case of the fine-material-sphere cittas, each immaterial-sphere wholesome citta produces as its result only its corresponding resultant citta, which fulfils only the three functions of rebirth, bhavanga, and death in the immaterial realm to which it pertains. (CMA p219)

Beings in the immaterial realms may develop the immaterial jhāna that corresponds to their level of rebirth or the higher jhānas, but not those that are lower. Thus when they pass away, they may be reborn on the same plane or on a higher plane, but not on a lower jhāna plane. (CMA p227)

-> If, however, they fall away from their jhāna attainment, they are reborn in the sensuous plane by the power of their access concentration (upacārasamādhi, see IX, §4) and thus take rebirth with one of the three-rooted sense-sphere resultants. (4 mahāvipāka ñāṇa-sampayutta)

Those who pass away from the non-percipient realm are reborn in the sensuous plane with a sense-sphere resultant citta having either two or three roots. (8 mahāvipāka) (CMA p227)

---

Passing away from elsewhere in the fine-material plane, one may be reborn either in an immaterial realm if one has possession of an immaterial jhāna, or in a fine-material realm if one has possession of a fine-material jhāna, or in the sensuous plane if one has generated strong kamma tending towards that plane. (CMA p227)

---

One who takes rebirth in the sensuous plane after passing away from the fine-material plane must do so with either a two-rooted or three-rooted rebirth consciousness. (8 mahāvipāka) (CMA p227)

---

Those who pass away with three roots in the sensuous plane may take rebirth in any plane, since a sense-sphere being with three roots can perform any type of kamma. (4 mahāvipāka ñāṇa-sampayutta) (CMA p227)
