A) KAMMA by KICCA function: 1. janaka-kamma : productive kamma (CMA p200) wholesome or unwholesome volition which produces resultant mental states and kamma-born materiality, both at the moment of rebirth-linking and during the course of existence. At the moment of conception, productive kamma generates the rebirth-linking consciousness and the kamma-born types of materiality constituting the physical body of the new being.
-> During the course of existence it produces other resultant cittas and the continuities of kamma-born materiality, such as the sense faculties, sexual determination, and the heart-base.
-> Only a kamma that has attained the status of a full course of action can perform the function of producing rebirth-linking, but all wholesome and unwholesome kammas without exception can produce results during the course of existence.

A) KAMMA by KICCA function: 2. upatthambhaka-kamma : supportive kamma (CMA p200) kamma which does not gain an opportunity to produce its own result, but which, when some other kamma is exercising a productive function, supports it either by enabling it to produce its pleasant or painful results over an extended time without obstruction or by reinforcing the continuum of aggregates produced by another kamma.

-> For example, when through the productive function of wholesome kamma one is reborn as a human being, supportive kamma may contribute to the extension of one's life-span and ensure that one is healthy and well provided with the necessities of life.

A) KAMMA by KICCA function: 2. upatthambhaka-kamma : supportive kamma (cont): (CMA p200)

-> When an unwholesome kamma has exercised its productive function by causing a painful disease, other unwholesome kamma may support it by preventing medicines from working effectively, thereby prolonging the disease.

-> When a being has been reborn as an animal through the productive force of unwholesome kamma, supportive kamma may facilitate the ripening of more unwholesome kamma productive of painful results, and may also lead to an extension of the life-span so that the continuity of unwholesome-resultants will endure long.

A) KAMMA by KICCA function: 3. upapilaka kamma : obstructive kamma (CMA p200):
-> kamma which cannot produce its own result but nevertheless obstructs and frustrates some other kamma, countering its efficacy or shortening the duration of its pleasant or painful results. Even though a productive kamma may be strong at the time it is accumulated, an obstructive kamma directly opposed to it may counteract it so that it becomes impaired when producing its results.

-> For example, a wholesome kamma tending to produce rebirth in a superior plane of existence may be impeded by an obstructive kamma so that it generates rebirth in a lower plane. A kamma tending to produce rebirth among high families may produce rebirth among low families; kamma tending to longevity may tend towards shortness of life; kamma tending to produce beauty may produce a plain appearance, etc.

A) KAMMA by KICCA function: 3. upapilaka kamma : obstructive kamma (cont): (CMA p200)

-> In the opposite way, an unwholesome kamma tending to produce rebirth in the great hells may be counteracted by an obstructive wholesome kamma and produce rebirth in the minor hells or among the petas.

-> During the course of existence many instances may be found of the operation of obstructive kamma. For example, in the human realm such kamma will obstruct the continuum of aggregates produced by kamma, facilitating the maturation of kamma that results in suffering and causing failures in regard to property and wealth or family and friends, etc.

-> In the lower realms obstructive kamma may counteract the rebirth-producing kamma, contributing to occasions of ease and happiness.

A) KAMMA by KICCA function: 4. upaghātaka kamma : destructive kamma (CMA p200)

-> wholesome or unwholesome kamma which supplants other weaker kamma, prevents it from ripening, and produces instead its own result. For example, somebody born as a human being may, through his productive kamma, have been originally destined for a long life-span, but a destructive kamma may arise and bring about a premature death.

-> At the time of death, at first a sign of a bad destination may appear by the power of an evil kamma, heralding a bad rebirth, but then a good kamma may emerge, expel the bad kamma, and having caused the sign of a good destination to appear, produce rebirth in a heavenly world. On the other hand, a bad kamma may suddenly arise, cut off the productive potential of a good kamma, and generate rebirth in a woeful realm.

-> Ledi Sayadaw gives the example of intentional killing to illustrate how one kamma may exercise all four functions. When one person takes another's life, as long as the volition of killing does not get the opportunity to ripen it exercises any function among the other three functions: (1) it may support the ripening of other unwholesome kamma, or (2) obstruct the ripening of wholesome kamma, or (3) cut off entirely the efficacy of wholesome kamma.

-> When the act of killing gains the opportunity to ripen, then each volition involved in the act has the power (4) to produce one rebirth in the woeful planes (productive function); thereafter such volition has no more power to produce rebirth-linking. However, such kamma can continue to exercise the other three functions, as well as the function of producing results during the course of existence, even for a hundred thousand aeons or more into the future.

B) KAMMA by PĀKA-DĀNA order of ripening: 1. garuka kamma : weighty kamma (CMA p203):

kamma of such powerful moral weight that it cannot be replaced by any other kamma as the determinant of rebirth. On the wholesome side, this kamma is the attainment of the jhānas. On the unwholesome side, it is the five heinous crimes together with a fixed wrong view that denies the basis for morality.

-> The five heinous crimes (ānantariya-kamma) are: (1) parricide – pitu-ghātaka, (2) matricide – mātu-ghātaka, (3) the murder of an Arahant – arahanta-ghātaka, (4) the wounding of a Buddha – lohituppādaka, and (5) maliciously creating a schism in the Saṅgha – saṅgha-bhedaka.

B) KAMMA by PĀKA-DĀNA order of ripening: 1. garuka kamma : weighty kamma (cont) (CMA p203):

-> If someone were to develop the jhānas and later were to commit one of the heinous crimes, his good kamma would be obliterated by the evil deed, and the latter would generate rebirth into a state of misery. For example, the Buddha's ambitious cousin Devadatta lost his psychic powers and was reborn in hell for wounding the Buddha and causing a schism in the Sangha.

-> But if someone were first to commit one of the heinous crimes, he could not later reach a sublime or supramundane attainment, because the evil kamma would create an insurmountable obstruction. Thus King Ajātasattu, while listening to the Buddha speak the Sāmaññaphala Sutta, the Discourse on the Fruits of Recluseship, had all the other conditions for reaching stream-entry; but because he had killed his father, King Bimbisāra, he could not attain the path and fruit.

B) KAMMA by PĀKA-DĀNA order of ripening: 2. āsanna kamma : death-proximate kamma (CMA p203):

-> potent kamma remembered or done shortly before death, that is, immediately prior to the last javana process. If a person of bad character remembers a good deed he has done, or performs a good deed just before dying, he may receive a fortunate rebirth; and conversely, if a good person dwells on an evil deed done earlier, or performs an evil deed just before dying, he may undergo an unhappy rebirh.

-> When there is no weighty kamma, and a potent death-proximate kamma is performed, this kamma will generally take on the role of generating rebirth. This does not mean that a person will escape the fruits of the other good and bad deeds he has committed during the course of life. When they meet with conditions, these kammas too will produce their due results.

B) KAMMA by PĀKA-DĀNA order of ripening: 3. ācinna kamma : habitual kamma (CMA p203):

a deed that one habitually performs, either good or bad. In the absence of weighty kamma and a potent death-proximate kamma, this type of kamma generally assumes the rebirth generative function.

B) KAMMA by PĀKA-DĀNA order of ripening: 4. katattā kamma : reserve kamma (CMA p203):

any other deed, not included in the three aforementioned categories, which is potent enough to take on the role of generating rebirth. This type of kamma becomes operative when there is no kamma of the other three types to exercise this function.

C) KAMMA by PĀKA-KĀLA time of ripening: 1. ditthadhamma-vedanīya kamma : immediately effective kamma (CMA p205):
-> kamma which, if it is to ripen, must yield its results in the same existence in which it is performed; otherwise, if it does not meet the opportunity to ripen in the same existence, it becomes defunct.
-> According to the Abhidhamma, of the seven javanas in a javana process, the first javana moment, being the weakest of all, generates immediately effective kamma.

C) KAMMA by PĀKA-KĀLA time of ripening: 2. upapajja-vedanīya kamma : subsequently effective kamma (CMA p205):
kamma which, if it is to ripen, must yield its results in the existence immediately following that in which it is performed; otherwise it becomes defunct. This type of kamma is generated by the last javana moment in a javana process, which is the second weakest in the series.

C) KAMMA by PĀKA-KĀLA time of ripening: 3. aparāpariya-vedanīya kamma : indefinitely effective kamma (CMA p205):
kamma which can ripen at any time from the second future existence onwards, whenever it gains an opportunity to produce results. This kamma, generated by the five intermediate javana moments of a cognitive process, never becomes defunct so long as the round of rebirths continues. No one, not even a Buddha or an Arahant, is exempt from experiencing the results of indefinitely effective kamma.

C) KAMMA by PĀKA-KĀLA time of ripening: 4. ahosi kamma : defunct kamma (CMA p205):
kamma that was due to ripen in either the present existence or the next existence but did not meet conditions conducive to its maturation. In the case of Arahants, all their accumulated kamma from the past which was due to ripen in future lives becomes defunct with their final passing away.

D) KAMMA by PĀKAṬṬHĀNA place of ripening: 1. Akusala (CMA p206):
kāyakamma : kāyadvāra , kāyaviññatti – bodily action: through the door of the body and bodily intimation
(1) pāṇātipāta : killing
(2) adinnādāna : stealing
(3) kāmesu micchācāra : sexual misconduct

D) KAMMA by PĀKAṬṬHĀNA place of ripening: 1. Akusala (CMA p206):
vacīkamma: vacīdvāra, vacīviññatti – verbal action: through the door of speech, vocal intimation
(4) musāvāda: false speech
(5) pisuṇavācā: slandering
(6) pharusavācā: harsh speech
(7) samphappalāpa: frivolous talk

D) KAMMA by PĀKAṬṬHĀNA place of ripening: 1. Akusala (CMA p206):
manokamma: manodvāra – mental action: through the mind door
(8) abhijjhā: covetousness
(9) vyāpāda: ill-will
(10) micchādiṭṭhi: wrong view

MICCHĀDIṬṬHI: (CMA p208)
1. natthika diṭṭhi: nihilism: denies the survival of the personality in any form after death, thus negating the moral significance of deeds.
2. akiriya diṭṭhi: the inefficacy of action view: claims that deeds have no efficacy in producing results and thus invalidates moral distinctions.
3. aheutka diṭṭhi: the acausality view: states that there is no cause or condition for the defilement and purification of beings, that beings are defiled and purified by chance, fate, or necessity.

D) KAMMA by PĀKAṬṬHĀNA place of ripening: 2. Kāmāvacara-kusala (CMA p209):
10 puñña-kiriya-vatthu: bases of meritorious deeds
1. dāna: giving
2. sīla: virtue
3. bhāvanā: meditation☐
4. apacāyana: service
5. veyyāvacca: reverence☐

D) KAMMA by PĀKAṬṬHĀNA place of ripening: 2. Kāmāvacara-kusala (CMA p209):
10 puñña-kiriya-vatthu: bases of meritorious deeds☐
6. pattidāna: transference of merit
7. pattānumodanā: rejoicing in others' merit☐
8. dhammasavana: hearig the Dhamma
9. dhammadesanā: teaching the Dhamma☐
10. diṭṭhijjukamma: straightening out one's views

CAUSES of Cuti: (CMA p220)
1. āyukkhayena: through the expiration of the life-span: this is the kind of death that comes about for the beings in those realms of existence where the life-span is bounded by a definite limit. In the human realm too this should be understood as death in advanced old age due to natural causes.
-> If the productive kamma is still not exhausted when death takes place through reaching the maximum age, the kammic force can generate another rebirth on the same plane or on some higher plane, as in the case of the devas.

CAUSES of Cuti: (CMA p220)
2. kammakkhayena: through the expiration of the (productive) kammic force: this is the kind of death that takes place when the kamma generating rebirth expends its force even though the normal life-span is not exhausted and there are otherwise favourable conditions for the prolongation of life.
3. ubhayakkhayena: through the (simultaneous) expiration of both: when both the life-span and kammic force simultaneously come to an end.

CAUSES of Cuti: (CMA p220)
4. upacchedakammunā: through (the intervention of) a destructive kamma: death that occurs when a powerful destructive kamma cuts off the force of the rebirth-generating kamma even before the expiration of the life-span.
-> the first three types of death are known as timely death (kāla-maraṇa), the last as untimely death (akāla-maraṇa). An oil lamp, for example, may be extinguished due to the exhaustion of the wick, the exhaustion of the oil, the simultaneous exhaustion of both, or some extraneous cause, like a gust of wind.

1. kamma: a good or evil deed performed earlier during the same lifetime.
-> the object of the door-freed consciousness in any given existence is generally identical with the object of the last cognitive process in the immediately preceding existence. When a person is on the verge of death, in the last phase of active consciousness some object will present itself to the cognitive process, determined by previous kamma and present circumstances. (CMA p138)
-> a kamma that is to produce rebirth-linking in the next existence. (CMA p221)
-> if the object of the rebirth consciousness is a kamma, then it is necessarily past and must be a mental object apprehended at the mind door. (CMA p224)

2. a sign of kamma (kamma-nimitta): an object or image associated with the good or evil deed that is about to determine rebirth or an instrument used to perform it. For example, a devout person may see the image of a monk or temple, a physician may see the image of patients, a butcher may hear the groans of slaughtered cattle or see an image of a butcher knife. (CMA p138)
-> a form, etc., that had been apprehended previously at the time of performing the kamma or something that was instrumental in performing the kamma. (CMA p221)
-> if the object is a sign of kamma, then it can be apprehended at any of the six doors and may be either past or present. (CMA p224)

2. a sign of kamma (kamma-nimitta): (cont) (CMA p224, 226)
-> the object of the fine-material-sphere rebirth consciousness is the counterpart sign that served as the object of the jhāna generating rebirth. This is considered a concept and a sign of kamma.
-> the objects of the first and third immaterial absorptions—the concepts of infinite space and of nothingness—become the objects of rebirth consciousness in the corresponding realms. The objects of the second and fourth immaterial absorptions are the cittas of the first and third immaterial absorptions, and these are sublime states. In all these cases the object is a sign of kamma.

3. a sign of destiny (gati-nimitta): a symbol of the realm into which the dying person is about to be reborn. For example, a person heading for a heavenly rebirth may see celestial mansions, a person heading for an animal rebirth may see forests or fields, a person heading for a rebirth in hell may see infernal fires. (CMA p138)
-> a symbol of the state to be obtained and experienced in the immediately following existence. (CMA p221)
-> the sign of destiny can be past or present and may appear at any of the six doors. (CMA p224)

This object presents itself to the javana process of the dying person, not to the death consciousness itself. The death consciousness (cuticitta), the final citta in a life term, apprehends the same object grasped by the rebirth consciousness and bhavanga of the existence that is about to end. (CMA p221)

-> The object of the last javana process then serves as the object of the rebirth consciousness and bhavanga in the next existence, and becomes in turn the object of the death consciousness at the end of that existence.

-> attending to that object thus presented, the stream of consciousness—in accordance with the kamma that is to be matured, whether pure or corrupted, and in conformity with the state into which one is to be reborn—continually flows, inclining mostly towards that state.

-> or that rebirth-productive kamma presents itself to a sense door in the way of renewing (abhinavakaraṇavasena), that is, the kamma presenting itself does not appear as a memory image of something that was previously done, but it appears to the mind door as if it were being done at that very moment. (CMA p222)

To one who is on the verge of death: The last cognitive process begins when the bhavanga is interrupted, vibrates for one moment, and is then arrested. (CMA p222-223)

-> thereafter follows either a sense-door process taking as object some sense object presenting itself at one of the five sense doors or a bare mind-door process taking as object either some sense object or a mental object presenting itself at the mind door.

-> within this terminal process the javana phase, by reason of its weakness, runs for only five mind-moments rather than the usual seven. This process lacks original productive kammic potency, but acts rather as the channel for the past kamma that has assumed the rebirth-generative function.

-> following the javana stage two registration cittas (tadārammaṇa) may or may not follow. In some cases the bhavanga may follow the last process cittas.

-> then, as the very last citta, the death consciousness arises performing the function of passing away from the present life. With the ceasing of the death consciousness, the life faculty is cut off.

-> then the body remains a mass of inanimate material phenomena born of temperature, and continues as such until the corpse is reduced to dust.

Immediately after that has ceased: following the dissolution moment of the death consciousness, there arises in a new existence the rebirth-linking consciousness apprehending the object thus obtained in the final javana process of the previous life. (CMA p223)

-> this citta is supported by the heart-base in realms which include matter, but is baseless in the immaterial realms. It is generated by a volitional formation, i.e. the kamma of the previous javana process, which in turn is grounded in the twin roots of the round of existence, latent ignorance and latent craving.

-> the rebirth consciousness is conjoined with its mental adjuncts, i.e. the cetasikas, which it serves as a forerunner not in the sense that it precedes them, but in that it acts as their locus (or foundation).

In the death-proximate cognitive process: only five feebly occurring javanas should be expected. Therefore, when death takes place while present objects are occurring and have entered the avenue of sense, then the rebirth-linking and life-continuum (of the new existence) also take a present object. (CMA p223-224)

-> A present object apprehended at the time of death may persist through the occasion of rebirth-linking and the first few bhavangas, and thus these too may take a present object.

The rebirth-linking consciousness is followed by sixteen moments of the bhavanga citta. Thereafter a mind-door adverting consciousness arises, followed by a process of seven javanas in which an attachment develops to the new existence (bhavanikanti-javana). This cognitive process, the first in the new life, takes as object the rebirth-linking consciousness; the javanas consist in sense-sphere cittas rooted in greed, dissociated from wrong views, unprompted. (CMA p228)

When this process ends, the bhavanga again arises and perishes, and continues thus whenever there is no intervention of a cognitive process. In this way the stream of consciousness flows on from conception until death, and from death to new birth "revolving like the wheel of a cart." (CMA p228)
